CHAUTAUQUA IN FULL SWING OPENS MOST AUSPICIOUSLY WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Some of the Attractions of the Gettysburg Chautauqua During the Week.

The Gettysburg Chautauqua held its first session on last Friday evening. The big tent on the Crosta lot on East Cemetery Hill was crowded, every one of the 1100 chairs were occupied and on every side there were many people standing. On Sunday evening when a similar crowd filled the big tent, an interested, enthusiastic crowd, Dr. A. W. Lamar declared that he had witnessed the opening of over forty chautauquas but that the opening of the Gettysburg Chautauqua excelled them all, excelled in attendance and excelled in the great chorus made up of our people and led by Irvin L. Taylor of this place.

The opening exercises on Friday evening were preceded by a band concert in front of the big tent. Dr. J. A. Singmaster made the invocation after which Mrs. Mattie B. Scorer whistled a selection and responded to an encore.

Geo. L. Kieffer, platform manager, next introduced Prof. C. F. Sanders who tendered in the name of the Board of Directors, to the people of the town and county this first chautauqua and pointed out the possibilities of the movement and its great power for good. That Gettysburg was an ideal place for a chautauqua and he pictured a future development of this movement when a chautauqua should last for six weeks during the summer and would attract hundreds of people from all parts of the country.

Dr. John G. Scorer then briefly addressed the audience telling that there were over 600 chautauquas in the country. That Nebraska had thirty odd, but the great State of Pennsylvania but six, and Gettysburg was the sixth. He told of the support given the movement in this place by the business men of Gettysburg and that they deserved the support of the town and county. They had not only offered a plan by which tickets could be secured without outlay but had also guaranteed the undertaking.

Mrs. Scorer then entertained the audience with whistling several selections after which Dr. T. C. Billheimer happily introduced Dr. Scorer and his lecture, "The Story of Old Glory." Dr. Scorer gave the history of the flag in story and picture, with stereopticon views of the various flags used in this land before Betsy Ross made the final flag adopted by Congress. He told the story of Betsy Ross illustrated with many pictures of Philadelphia in Colonial days.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Robert Forbes held captive the audience with his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," showing him as the representative of the common people and as a poor boy and the lecturer told one good story after another to the delight of his audience.

After the lecture there was sent up a number of balloons, each carrying a card entitling the finder to a prize offered by the merchants.

Saturday evening the band concert was followed by exercises in the big tent, Mrs. Scorer opening the program with whistling several selections acceptably. Dr. Scorer then introduced Dr. A. W. Lamar.

Dr. Lamar held the wrapt attention of his audience during his lecture on "Dixie Before and During the War," his portrayal of life in the South was wonderful, presenting vivid pictures of that life so as to be better understood. His word pictures of Black Mammy, coon hunt, plantation wedding and many other scenes were truly great creations. After the lecture there was a red fire illumination.

The chautauqua on Sunday was inspiring and great from a number of points of view. The Sunday Schools united in a great union meeting. The big tent was filled with happy children and the services were conducted by Prof. C. F. Sanders. Union services were held in the morning with a fine sermon by Dr. A. W. Lamar. In the evening union Christian Endeavor was led by Rev. J. B. Baker with Revs. Sherrick, Taylor and Ott of this place, and Rev. J. H. Meyer of Jersey City, taking part in the same.

In the afternoon Dr. Robert Forbes delivered a great lecture on "Mistakes of the Devil and Some Other People." His humor was delightful and he weaved it most effectively through his talks, and what he said was filled with good sense and put strongly so that it was an inspiration to listen to him. He said one of the mistakes of the preachers was the preaching too much of the saving of souls. What they should preach was the saving of men and women, boys and girls, making people better and this place a better place to live in.

Gettysburg people are deserving of the best words that can be said for the song services morning and evening on Sunday. The chorus of one hundred voices was great. It was a delight to the big audience of at least 1500 people to listen to the chorus singing one hymn after another. In the morning Miss Miriam Tutill and Miss Carrie Haas sang solos and in the evening Miss Lillian Ring sang a solo and Miss Ruth Clutz and Miss Carrie Haas a duet. In every month there were words of praise for the song service donated by our people.

The Ionic Ladies' Concert Company closed the Sunday exercises with a sacred concert. Mrs. Hazel Knox Bornschein entertaining with solos and recitations, Miss Olga von Hartz with violin and singing, Miss Lily

Bartholomay with singing and at the piano, and Miss Emma I. Kenney as a contralto soloist.

On Monday evening Dr. A. W. Lamar delivered his lecture on "Dixie Since the War" and the large audience was presented with facts of the southland that were new to many who heard the speaker. They were facts that made them think and enthused them. His beautiful graphic picture terminating his lecture of cementing the Union will live long in the memories of those who heard him, and will be cherished as of the golden strands that are welding this great people into one nation.

Tuesday afternoon C. Lawrence Abbott delighted Chautauqua in the homely characterization of "Aunt Jane of Kentucky." And Tuesday evening Henry M. Neely delivered his lecture on "Aeroplanes, How and Why They Fly" and next week he will speak more in detail of this lecture.

On Monday afternoon and evening the Ionic Ladies' Concert Company entertained the Chautauqua with musical programs of song, recitation and violin, making happy impressions and responding to encores.

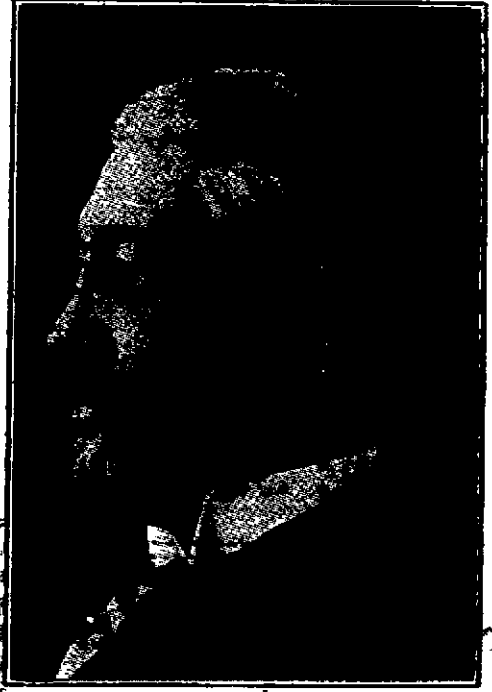

On Monday afternoon Dr. A. W. Lamar held the audience spell bound with his free lecture on Human Electricity and the many simple ways by which it can be used to cure many of the ills flesh seems heir to. It was a revelation to all who heard it, a new message of health and happiness. The audience was so delighted with this lecture that Dr. Lamar consented to repeat it on Tuesday afternoon as many who had been prevented from attending desired to hear him.

There will be a feast of good things during the week.

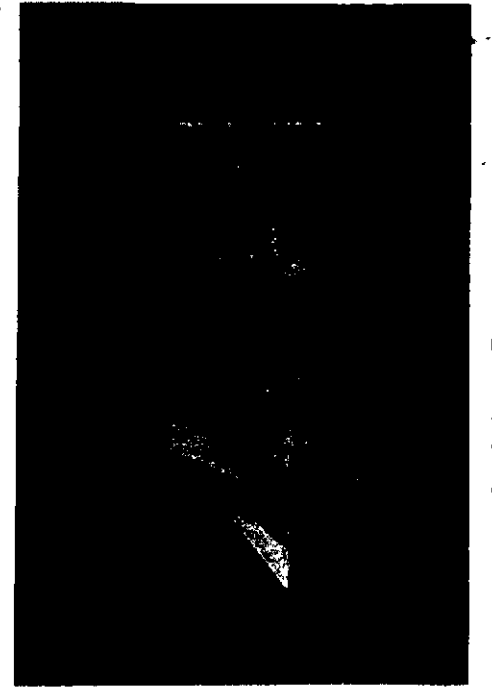

C. Cordose da Silva

C. Cordose da Silva will give a recital Wednesday evening. As a singer and reader he is widely known and comes highly recommended.

Dr. Edwin E. Sparks

Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, Pres. of Pa. State College will thrill and entertain his audience on Thursday evening with his lecture "Simple Virtues." He will inspire you.

Dr. R. W. Douthat

To those who live here Gettysburg is such a familiar theme that we often lose sight of the true significance of our town. To value and appreciate Gettysburg at its true worth ought to make better citizens of all of us. Dr. Douthat on Thursday morning will speak on "The Grandeur and Glory of Gettysburg."

Dr. W. T. S. Culp

On next Saturday and Sunday Dr. W. T. S. Culp will deliver his lectures on "Uncrowned Kings" and "American Knots, Split and Unsplit." He is one of the great lecturers of the Lyceum, a man with a mission and message.

Hon. Richard P. Hobson

On Saturday afternoon Congressman Richmond P. Hobson, the hero of the Merrimack, will lecture and it is expected that a great audience will greet Mr. Hobson.

S. M. Spedon, the Cartoonist and Chalk Talker, will be here on Thursday and Friday. Dr. Granville will deliver an address on Sunday and a second concert company will present the concluding musical attractions.

Special Town Council Meeting.

The Town Council held a special meeting on Tuesday evening of last week and decided to build cement pavements in the northwest and northeast corners of the Diamond and instructed the Highway Committee to confer with the property owners in those corners so that complete cement pavements may be built on half of the Square. The south side of Square will be left for a future day.

Burgess Holtzworth sent in a report that he had collected $240 back license. That he had fixed Aug. 15 as last day for payment of these licenses and that the Burgess would take immediate steps to collect all delinquent licenses.

A motion carried to make a weekly collection of refuse throughout the town.

The committee to confer with the Battlefield Commission in regard to alley crossing on East Confederate avenue was discharged for inactivity and Councilmen Codori and Armor and Borough Attorney Wible were named as a new committee on matter.

The engineer for the borough was present and given instructions about preparing a grade for Railroad street along the W. M. R. R. and also at other points in the town.

Lincoln Highway.

Congressmen are beginning to learn the sentiment throughout the country for the Lincoln Highway. Last week the Motor Club of Harrisburg through its secretary, J. Clyde Myton, sent a communication to Congressman Martin E. Olmstead asking him to support the highway measure in preference to a $2,000,000 arch as proposed.

The Capital City motorists contend that while the highway will not go through Harrisburg it would be a lasting memorial and would benefit that city in many ways as nearly all tourists from the South reaching Gettysburg will come to Harrisburg to see the Pennsylvania State Capitol building.

Narrow Escape.

Martin Boyer, living near Biglerville, had a narrow escape while felling trees at Dick's Dam last Wednesday. His left foot was caught by a falling tree and so crushed that it may be necessary to amputate two toes. The accident was witnessed by a number of campers. Mr. Boyer was standing at the base of the tree which had been entirely severed at the stump. The tree was evenly balanced and instead of falling it slid off the stump pinning his foot to the ground. It was the prompt action of a fellow workman that saved his life. The tree would have fallen directly across his body, if it had not been for the timely act of his rescuers.

Gettysburg Loses Conference.

At the district conference of the Church of the Brethren of Southern Pennsylvania held in York on last Wednesday, it was decided by a vote of 24 to 6 to hold the 1912 General Conference of the Church of the Brethren for the whole of the United States in York and not in Gettysburg. It was apparent to those attending the meeting from Gettysburg that this place could not win but in deference to a sentiment expressed, that Gettysburg should stand until the decision was made, the matter was allowed to go to a vote. There were those who were of the opinion that a conference of the church should not be held on a ground devoted to horse racing and other amusements and that Gettysburg was offering the only site in keeping with the traditions of the church.

While Gettysburg lost there are always lessons to be learned from defeat.

In the first place the lack of a united co-operation and support of all the hotels in this place is always a serious obstacle in the way of the work that must be done to secure gatherings for this place. Our progressive business people feel that the hotels should be most active and liberal in these movements. The hotel men not only have not been taking any hand in this work but often hold back and make those who are doing the work feel uncomfortable in their appeals to them. A number of our hotel men are the least progressive of our citizens and act as though they expected to reap where they have not sown.

In the canvass for subscriptions for this conference of the Brethren the business people of this place made the remarkable exhibit of putting their names to promises for $3085. Of this amount J. A. King of the Hotel Gettysburg contributed $250, C. H. Schlegle of the Globe Hotel $100. These subscriptions received the hearty endorsement of all other subscribers. The other other hotel subscriptions were P. M. Bruner $35, and C. B. Tate $10.

If the hotel men in this place want to do business they should be glad to see a canvasser who is at work to bring people to this place, they should make the volunteer canvassers feel the gladness, they should make evident their desire to co-operate in this work and come down liberally.

Gettysburg received a peculiar deal from the railroads in this effort to secure the Brethren Conference. They were encouraged to go ahead. In fact were told that the railroads would not show their hands until the town had shown its hands and when the $2000 was in sight and a show-down from the railroads was asked it was mighty slow in coming. Just what that show-down would have revealed we never learned. We believe they would have co-operated, there were intimations of that kind which came like a tooth-pulling experience. There is no reason for such an attitude of our railroads.

There is still another lesson to be learned from the recent experience. Gettysburg is handicapped by the attitude and actions of our hackmen. The town was seriously criticised at York by reason of the hackmen. Some of them have given this place a bad name for things that are not fair. We were asked whether they could be depended upon, whether they would not take advantage of situations and of the traveler. Their behavior of mobbing the passengers at depots was referred to and other unfair things heard of.

The matter of an association of hackmen for the protection of themselves and the town and the public has been repeatedly urged and the lack of co-operation at this point has long been felt and this in spite of the warning that has been handed out, that if the hackmen did not organize for the protection of the public, did not govern and regulate themselves, that the day would come when the National Government would regulate them whether they wanted to be regulated or not. Self-government is always better but when people won't do that, they are headed for a goal where the governing will be done by others. The sooner something is done along this line the better for the town, for present conditions are not conducive to the encouragement of passenger traffic to this place.

MARBLE FEDERAL BUILDING

CONGRESS GIVES $17,000 MORE FOR GETTYSBURG BUILDING.

Representative of Contractor Stannard on the Ground to Sublet Excavation.

The Memorial Federal Building in Gettysburg on corner of Baltimore and High streets will be constructed of marble in place of Indiana limestone. When the bids for the building were opened some time ago the award was made to A. B. Stannard with the understanding that any changes in the plans and specifications could be made within sixty days thereafter. Mr. Stannard had handed in a supplemental bid as requested that for $117,000 he would construct the building of marble instead of Indiana limestone at $99,000.

The attitude of Gettysburg was made plain to Congressman Lefean that Gettysburg wanted the building for the 50th anniversary of the battle for the records and exhibits of the battlefield commission. Congressman Lefean at once got busy to secure an additional appropriation from the special Congress in session. He introduced on August 4 a bill for the purpose and it was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. On August 8 it was reported with an amendment and committed to the Committee of the Whole of the House on the State of the Union. On last Tuesday evening Aug. 15, it was passed by the Democratic House. On last Thursday evening, Aug. 17, Senator Penrose secured its passage by the Senate, and on Saturday, Aug. 19, President Taft signed the bill, a truly record performance.

The exact language of the act is as follows: A bill to increase the limit of cost of the public building authorized to be constructed at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the limit of cost fixed by the Act of Congress approved June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten for the erection and completion of a suitable building, including fire-proof vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, and approaches, complete, for the use and accommodation of the United States post office and other governmental offices at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, be, and the same is hereby, increased from one hundred thousand dollars to one hundred and seventeen thousand dollars.

The contract and bond for the contractor, Ambrose B. Stannard, were recently executed and last week were approved by the proper government officials and Mr. Stannard was requested to begin work as soon as he could make the arrangements. The contractor's reply was that his representative would be on the ground on Monday, Aug. 21.

On Monday morning Mr. J. B. Fantini was on the ground and Col. Cope took up at once with him the work of securing levels and staking off the building. Mr. Fantini spent Monday making the acquaintance of many of our people and of those engaged in excavation work bids were asked to be submitted for the work. It is expected to have bids in a few days and after their submission to the contractor the contract will be given out and work begun. It is thought that by the beginning of next week dirt will be flying.

Large Barn Burned.

During a severe electrical and rain storm last Friday morning, a large bank barn on the farm of Samuel Ziegler, located in Hamilton township, about one mile from Abbottstown, was struck by lightning and destroyed by the resulting fire. A large number of chickens perished in the flames but Mr. Ziegler and his family succeeded in getting all of the horses, cows and other live stock out of the barn in safety. No efforts to extinguish the fire could be made because of the absence of any fire fighting apparatus. Consequently everything was done to save the contents. The bolt of lightning first struck a weather vane and was carried from there to the hay mow. The hay and grain burned rapidly and the building was partially consumed before Mr. Ziegler and other persons reached the structure. The horses and cows were led to the open but the chickens were in a henhouse adjoining the barn were consumed. Loss is estimated to be several thousand dollars.

Family Reunion.

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hershey assembled at Shady Lawn home along the Chambersburg pike, about 3 miles west of Gettysburg on Saturday, Aug. 19. The day was pleasantly spent by all. Many fond recollections of past associations were happily recalled. A dinner was served at the noon hour. They were all present except Harry who lives in California, those present being Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hershey, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wisler, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hershey, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, Luther and Ella Wisler, Anita, Katharine and Richard Hershey, and Clarence and Pauline Brown of Highland township. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Hershey, Sarah, Louise and Raymond of Greensburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hershey of Franklin township, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Warren and son, Elmer of Gettysburg, J. Willard, Ella and Raymond E. at home, and a niece, Myrl Diehl, of New Oxford.

CHAUTAUQUA IN FULL SWING OPENS MOST AUSPICIOUSLY WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Some of the Attractions of the Gettysburg Chautauqua During the Week.

The Gettysburg Chautauqua held its first session on last Friday evening. The big tent on the Crosta lot on East Cemetery Hill was crowded, every one of the 1100 chairs were occupied and on every side there were many people standing. On Sunday evening when a similar crowd filled the big tent, an interested, enthusiastic crowd, Dr. A. W. Lamar declared that he had witnessed the opening of over forty chautauquas but that the opening of the Gettysburg Chautauqua excelled them all, excelled in attendance and excelled in the great chorus made up of our people and led by Irvin L. Taylor of this place.

The opening exercises on Friday evening were preceded by a band concert in front of the big tent. Dr. J. A. Singmaster made the invocation after which Mrs. Mattie B. Scorer whistled a selection and responded to an encore.

Geo. L. Kieffer, platform manager, next introduced Prof. C. F. Sanders who tendered in the name of the Board of Directors, to the people of the town and county this first chautauqua and pointed out the possibilities of the movement and its great power for good. That Gettysburg was an ideal place for a chautauqua and he pictured a future development of this movement when a chautauqua should last for six weeks during the summer and would attract hundreds of people from all parts of the country.

Dr. John G. Scorer then briefly addressed the audience telling that there were over 600 chautauquas in the country. That Nebraska had thirty odd, but the great State of Pennsylvania but six, and Gettysburg was the sixth. He told of the support given the movement in this place by the business men of Gettysburg and that they deserved the support of the town and county. They had not only offered a plan by which tickets could be secured without outlay but had also guaranteed the undertaking.

Mrs. Scorer then entertained the audience with whistling several selections after which Dr. T. C. Billheimer happily introduced Dr. Scorer and his lecture, "The Story of Old Glory." Dr. Scorer gave the history of the flag in story and picture, with stereoscopic views of the various flags used in this land before Betsy Ross made the final flag adopted by Congress. He told the story of Betsy Ross illustrated with many pictures of Philadelphia in Colonial days.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Robert Forbes held captive the audience with his lecture on "Abraham Lincoln," showing him as the representative of the common people and as a poor boy and the lecturer told one good story after another to the delight of his audience.

After the lecture there was sent up a number of balloons, each carrying a card entitling the finder to a prize offered by the merchants.

Saturday evening the band concert was followed by exercises in the big tent. Mrs. Scorer opening the program with whistling several selections acceptably. Dr. Scorer then introduced Dr. A. W. Lamar.

Dr. Lamar held the wrapt attention of his audience during his lecture on "Dixie Before and During the War," his portrayal of life in the South was wonderful, presenting vivid pictures of that life so as to be better understood. His word pictures of Black Mammy, coon hunt, plantation wedding and many other scenes were truly great creations. After the lecture there was a red fire illumination.

The chautauqua on Sunday was inspiring and great from a number of points of view. The Sunday Schools united in a great union meeting. The big tent was filled with happy children and the services were conducted by Prof. C. F. Sanders. Union services were held in the morning with a fine sermon by Dr. A. W. Lamar. In the evening union Christian Endeavor was led by Rev. J. B. Baker with Revs. Sherrick, Taylor and Ott of this place, and Rev. J. H. Meyer of Jersey City, taking part in the same.

In the afternoon Dr. Robert Forbes delivered a great lecture on "Mistakes of the Devil and Some Other People." His humor was delightful and he weaved it most effectively through his talks, and what he said was filled with good sense and put strongly so that it was an inspiration to listen to him. He said one of the mistakes of the preachers was the preaching too much of the saving of souls. What they should preach was the saving of men and women, boys and girls, making people better and this place a better place to live in.

Gettysburg people are deserving of the best words that can be said for the song services morning and evening on Sunday. The chorus of one hundred voices was great. It was a delight to the big audience of at least 1500 people to listen to the chorus singing one hymn after another. In the morning Miss Miriam Tuthill and Miss Carrie Haas sang solos and in the evening Miss Lillian Ring sang a solo and Miss Ruth Clutz and Miss Carrie Haas a duet. In every month there were words of praise for the song service donated by our people.

The Ionic Ladies' Concert Company closed the Sunday exercises with a sacred concert. Mrs. Hazel Knox Bornschein entertaining with solos and recitations. Miss Olga von Haritz with violin and singing. Miss Lily

Bartholomay with singing and at the piano, and Miss Emma I. Kenney as a contralto soloist.

On Monday evening Dr. A. W. Lamar delivered his lecture on "Dixie Since the War" and the large audience was presented with facts of the southland that were new to many who heard the speaker. They were facts that made them think and enthused them. His beautiful graphic picture terminating his lecture of cementing the Union will live long in the memories of those who heard him, and will be cherished as of the golden strands that are welding this great people into one nation.

Tuesday afternoon C. Lawrence Abbott delighted Chautauqua in the homely characterization of "Aunt Jane of Kentucky." And Tuesday evening Henry M. Neely delivered his lecture on "Aeroplanes, How and Why They Fly" and next week he will speak more in detail of this lecture.

On Monday afternoon and evening the Ionic Ladies' Concert Company entertained the Chautauqua with musical programs of song, recitation and violin, making happy impressions and responding to encores.

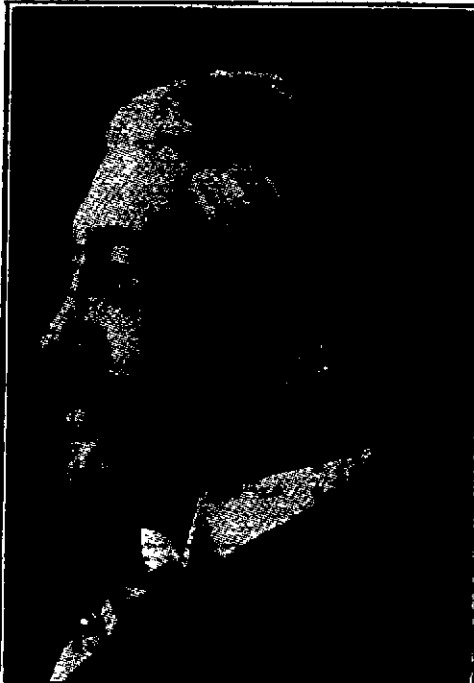

On Monday afternoon Dr. A. W. Lamar held the audience spell bound with his free lecture on Human Electricity and the many simple ways by which it can be used to cure many of the ills flesh seems heir to. It was a revelation to all who heard it, a new message of health and happiness. The audience was so delighted with this lecture that Dr. Lamar consented to repeat it on Tuesday afternoon as many who had been prevented from attending desired to hear him.

There will be a feast of good things during the week.

C. Cordose da Silva

C. Cordose da Silva will give a recital Wednesday evening. As a singer and reader he is widely known and comes highly recommended.

Dr. Edwin E. Sparks

Dr. Edwin E. Sparks, Pres. of Pa. State College will thrill and entertain his audience on Thursday evening with his lecture "Simple Virtues." He will inspire you.

Dr. R. W. Douthat

To those who live here Gettysburg is such a familiar theme that we often lose sight of the true significance of our town. To value and appreciate Gettysburg at its true worth ought to make better citizens of all of us. Dr. Douthat on Thursday morning will speak on "The Grandeur and Glory of Gettysburg."

Dr. W. T. S. Culp

On next Saturday and Sunday Dr. W. T. S. Culp will deliver his lectures on "Uncrowned Kings" and "American Knots, Split and Unsplit." He is one of the great lecturers of the Lyceum, a man with a mission and message.

Hon. Richard P. Hobson

On Saturday afternoon Congressman Richard P. Hobson, the hero of the Merrimack, will lecture and it is expected that a great audience will greet Mr. Hobson.

S. M. Spedon, the Cartoonist and Chalk Talker, will be here on Thursday and Friday. Dr. Granville will deliver an address on Sunday and a second concert company will present the concluding musical attractions.

Special Town Council Meeting.

The Town Council held a special meeting on Tuesday evening of last week and decided to build cement pavements in the northwest and northeast corners of the Diamond and instructed the Highway Committee to confer with the property owners in those corners so that complete cement pavements may be built on half of the Square. The south side of Square will be left for a future day.

Burgess Holzworth sent in a report that he had collected $240 back license. That he had fixed Aug. 15 as last day for payment of these licenses and that the Burgess would take immediate steps to collect all delinquent licenses.

A motion carried to make a weekly collection of refuse throughout the town.

The committee to confer with the Battlefield Commission in regard to alley crossing on East Confederate avenue was discharged for inactivity and Councilmen Codori and Armor and Borough Attorney Wible were named as a new committee on matter.

The engineer for the borough was present and given instructions about preparing a grade for Railroad street along the W. M. R. R. and also at other points in the town.

Lincoln Highway.

Congressmen are beginning to learn the sentiment throughout the country for the Lincoln Highway. Last week the Motor Club of Harrisburg through its secretary, J. Clyde Myton, sent a communication to Congressman Martin E. Olmstead asking him to support the highway measure in preference to a $2,000,000 arch as proposed.

The Capital City motorists contend that while the highway will not go through Harrisburg it would be a lasting memorial and would benefit that city in many ways as nearly all tourists from the South reaching Gettysburg will come to Harrisburg to see the Pennsylvania State Capitol building.

Narrow Escape.

Martin Boyer, living near Biglerville, had a narrow escape while felling trees at Dick's Dam last Wednesday. His left foot was caught by a falling tree and so crushed that it may be necessary to amputate two toes. The accident was witnessed by a number of campers. Mr. Boyer was standing at the base of the tree which had been entirely severed at the stump. The tree was evenly balanced and instead of falling it slid off the stump pinning his foot to the ground. It was the prompt action of a fellow workman that saved his life. The tree would have fallen directly across his body, if it had not been for the timely act of his rescuers.

Gettysburg Loses Conference.

At the district conference of the Church of the Brethren of Southern Pennsylvania held in York on last Wednesday, it was decided by a vote of 24 to 6 to hold the 1912 General Conference of the Church of the Brethren for the whole of the United States in York and not in Gettysburg.

It was apparent to those attending the meeting from Gettysburg that this place could not win but in deference to a sentiment expressed, that Gettysburg should stand until the decision was made, the matter was allowed to go to a vote. There were those who were of the opinion that a conference of the church should not be held on a ground devoted to horse racing and other amusements and that Gettysburg was offering the only site in keeping with the traditions of the church.

While Gettysburg lost there are always lessons to be learned from defeat.

In the first place the lack of a united co-operation and support of all the hotels in this place is always a serious obstacle in the way of the work that must be done to secure gatherings for this place. Our progressive business people feel that the hotels should be most active and liberal in these movements. The hotel men not only have not been taking any hand in this work but often hold back and make those who are doing the work feel uncomfortable in their appeals to them. A number of our hotel men are the least progressive of our citizens and act as though they expected to reap where they have not sown.

In the canvass for subscriptions for this conference of the Brethren the business people of this place made the remarkable exhibit of putting their names to promises for $3085. Of this amount J. A. King of the Hotel Gettysburg contributed $250, C. H. Schlegel of the Globe Hotel $100. These subscriptions received the hearty endorsement of all other subscribers. The other hotel subscriptions were P. M. Bruner $35, and C. B. Tate $10.

If the hotel men in this place want to do business they should be glad to see a canvasser who is at work to bring people to this place, they should make the volunteer canvassers feel the gladness, they should make evident their desire to co-operate in this work and come down liberally.

Gettysburg received a peculiar deal from the railroads in this effort to secure the Brethren Conference. They were encouraged to go ahead. In fact were told that the railroads would not show their hands until the town had shown its hands and when the $3000 was in sight and a show-down from the railroads was asked it was mighty slow in coming. Just what that show-down would have revealed we never learned. We believe they would have co-operated, there were intimations of that kind which came like a tooth-pulling experience. There is no reason for such an attitude of our railroads.

There is still another lesson to be learned from the recent experience. Gettysburg is handicapped by the attitude and actions of our hackmen. The town was seriously criticised at York by reason of the hackmen. Some of them have given this place a bad name for things that are not fair. We were asked whether they could be depended upon, whether they would not take advantage of situations and of the traveler. Their behavior of mobbing the passengers at depots was referred to and other unfair things heard of.

The matter of an association of hackmen for the protection of themselves and the town and the public has been repeatedly urged and the lack of co-operation at this point has long been felt and this in spite of the warning that has been handed out, that if the hackmen did not organize for the protection of the public, did not govern and regulate themselves, that the day would come when the National Government would regulate them whether they wanted to be regulated or not. Self-government is always better but when people won't do that, they are headed for a goal where the governing will be done by others. The sooner something is done along this line the better for the town, for present conditions are not conducive to the encouragement of passenger traffic to this place.

MARBLE FEDERAL BUILDING

CONGRESS GIVES $17,000 MORE FOR GETTYSBURG BUILDING.

Representative of Contractor Stannard on the Ground to Sublet Excavation.

The Memorial Federal Building in Gettysburg on corner of Baltimore and High streets will be constructed of marble in place of Indiana limestone. When the bids for the building were opened some time ago the award was made to A. B. Stannard with the understanding that any changes in the plans and specifications could be made within sixty days thereafter. Mr. Stannard had handed in a supplemental bid as requested that for $117,000 he would construct the building of marble instead of Indiana limestone at $99,000.

The attitude of Gettysburg was made plain to Congressman Lefean that Gettysburg wanted the building for the 50th anniversary of the battle for the records and exhibits of the battlefield commission. Congressman Lefean at once got busy to secure an additional appropriation from the special Congress in session. He introduced on August 4 a bill for the purpose and it was referred to the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds. On August 8 it was reported with an amendment and committed to the Committee of the Whole of the House on the State of the Union. On last Tuesday evening Aug. 15, it was passed by the Democratic House. On last Thursday evening, Aug. 17, Senator Penrose secured its passage by the Senate, and on Saturday, Aug. 19, President Taft signed the bill, a truly correct performance.

The exact language of the act is as follows:

A bill to increase the limit of cost of the public building authorized to be constructed at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the limit of cost fixed by the Act of Congress approved June twenty-fifth, nineteen hundred and ten, for the erection and completion of a suitable building, including fire-proof vaults, heating and ventilating apparatus, and approaches, complete, for the use and accommodation of the United States post office and other governmental offices at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, be, and the same is hereby, increased from one hundred thousand dollars to one hundred and seventeen thousand dollars.

The contract and bond for the contractor, Ambrose B. Stannard, were recently executed and last week were approved by the proper government officials and Mr. Stannard was requested to begin work as soon as he could make the arrangements. The contractor's reply was that his representative would be on the ground on Monday, Aug. 21.

On Monday morning Mr. J. B. Fantini was on the ground and Col. Cope took up at once with him the work of securing levels and staking off the building. Mr. Fantini spent Monday making the acquaintance of many of our people and of those engaged in excavation work bids were asked to be submitted for the work. It is expected to have bids in a few days and after their submission to the contractor the contract will be given out and work begun. It is thought that by the beginning of next week dirt will be flying.

Large Barn Burned.

During a severe electrical and rain storm last Friday morning, a large barn on the farm of Samuel Ziegler, located in Hamilton township, about one mile from Abbottstown, was struck by lightning and destroyed by the resulting fire. A large number of chickens perished in the flames but Mr. Ziegler and his family succeeded in getting all of the horses, cows and other live stock out of the barn in safety. No efforts to extinguish the fire could be made because of the absence of any fire fighting apparatus. Consequently everything was done to save the contents. The bolt of lightning first struck a weather vane and was carried from there to the hay mow. The hay and grain burned rapidly and the building was partially consumed before Mr. Ziegler and other persons reached the structure. The horses and cows were led to the open but the chickens were in a henhouse adjoining the barn were consumed. Loss is estimated to be several thousand dollars.

Family Reunion.

The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hershey assembled at Shady Lawn home along the Chambersburg pike, about 3 miles west of Gettysburg on Saturday, Aug. 19. The day was pleasantly spent by all. Many fond recollections of past associations were happily recalled. A dinner was served at the noon hour. They were all present except Harry who lives in California, those present being Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Hershey, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Wisler, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hershey, Mr. and Mrs. David Brown, Luther and Ella Wisler, Anita, Katharine and Richard Hershey, and Clarence and Pauline Brown of Highland township, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Hershey, Sarah, Louise and Raymond of Greensburg, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hershey of Franklin township, Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Warren and son, Elmer of Gettysburg, J. Willard, Ella and Raymond E. at home, and a niece, Myri Dicht, of New Oxford.

HOW I WON MEDAL OF HONOR

FOR GALLANTRY AT BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG JULY 2, '63

Story of Dr. J. J. Purman, 1st Lieut. 140th Pa. Infantry, Who Married Gettysburg Girl.

The events of this story occurred over forty-eight years ago at Gettysburg. Nearly all the actors in the drama have passed to the Great Beyond. I was a lieutenant in the 140th Pennsylvania Infantry, Colonel R. P. Roberts, of Beaver, Pa.; General Zook's brigade, Hancock's corps. Our brigade received the shock of the charge of General Wofford's brigade of Georgians, Longstreet's corps, on the afternoon of July 2, 1863, at the wheatfield. After fighting for nearly two hours with the loss of all our field officers and with 241 out of 540 of my regiment placed hors du combat and surrounded by the enemy on three sides, we fell back in some disorder.

My orderly sergeant, now Captain J. M. Pipes of Washington, D. C., and myself retreated together, and to recover our breath set down a moment on a boulder at the southwest side of the field. In a few seconds I described the enemy coming through the woods at a double quick, and said to the sergeant, "We must get out of this, or we'll be gobbled up." "Yes," he replied, and off we started toward our reserve force. We had not come far before we came upon an unknown comrade badly wounded in the legs, who cried to us, "Comrades, carry me off!" I replied, "We can't do that; I doubt if we can get away ourselves, but we'll do the best we can for you." Suiting the action to the word, with the assistance of the sergeant, I carried and placed him between two rocks sheltered from the enemy's fire. Grasping his hand, I said, "Goodbye, comrade," and started on a run to put as much distance as possible between me and the enemy. But my delay was fatal to me. When I halted in response to the cry for help they had a point-blank fire on me. Emerging from the woods into the wheatfield they shouted, "Halt, you d—d Yankee, halt!" The broad wheatfield was before me, the enemy behind me. Visions of Libby and Andersonville flitted through my brain. If I halt, some careless or brutal fellow may shoot me after I have thrown up my hands. They can't hit me, anyhow, on a double-quick. These thoughts determined my will, and I refused to halt.

In less time than it takes to write this sentence I was brought down with an ounce of lead through my left leg. I called out to the sergeant, who was about a rod ahead of me, "I'm struck!" and went down among the tangled wheat. A moment after he was also hit. Many have attempted to tell how it feels to be shot. At first there is no pain, smarting nor anguish. It is very like the shock of an electric battery. But that delusion soon passes, and the acute pain follows, and you know that a missile has passed through the tender flesh of your body. When hit I was brandishing my sword, and I involuntarily threw some feet from me, where, point downward, it fell, and remained sticking in the ground. The Confederate regiment charged over me, and as it passed I read from its floating colors, "Twenty-fourth Georgia." I now examined my wound, and found that I was hit about four inches above the ankle, the ball passing through, crushing in both bones.

Stragglers were passing over the fields and shots were being exchanged. A member of the Pennsylvania "Buck-tails" came by on a run. I called to him, "Come and cut my boot off my foot." He knelt down and commenced cutting, but his knife was dull, my boot thick and the pain great, so, begging him to desist, he rapidly disappeared. The sun was now sinking behind Seminary Ridge, and as dusk came on all grew quiet around me. The dead and wounded of both armies lay thickly strewn over the field, which was still disputed ground. Placing my wounded leg in as easy position as possible, I realized that "the night was left to darkness and to me."

Never shall I forget that midsummer night. The almost full moon was shining, with drifting clouds passing over her face. At intervals a cloud obscured the moon, leaving in deep darkness the wheatfield with its covering of trampled and tangled grain, boulders and wounded and dead men, then passing off revealed a ghastly scene of cold, white upturned faces. It was indeed a field.

Covered thick with other clay, heaped and pent, friend and foe in one red burial bled.

The night wore on with no sleep for me. Its quiet broken occasionally by the cries and groans of the wounded. One man not far away called repeatedly for his regiment, "Oh, Seventh Michigan!" As the streaks of light gradually merged into morning there could be seen both the Union and Confederate skirmish lines. Soon the occasional shot, first on the one side then on the other, multiplied into a desultory fire. The wounded near each other began to converse. The Michigan man was a sergeant, wounded in the legs, and seemed to suffer intensely.

As the sun rose higher the firing grew hotter, our wounds more swollen and thirst more intense, and the prospect of our relief became exceedingly hopeless. The Michigan sergeant asked me, "Have you any water?" I replied, "No, but I have a little whiskey." "For God's sake give me some, I am dying from thirst." "I will if I can," and rising on my sound leg I threw my canteen with all my force, but it fell midway between us. After this I heard a ball make that peculiar thud and the sergeant cried out, "I'm struck again! My right hand was resting on my left arm and the ball passed through my hand and arm." He then asked, "Are you a praying man?" I replied, "I am." "Then pray for me." I prayed as best I could, and I heard the sergeant say "Amen!" If ever there was an earnest, sincere petition sent up to the Throne of Grace it was then.

Growing tired lying so long in one position, I frequently rose on my sound leg and hands to rest and look around. Nothing could be seen except a line of blue on one side and gray on the other, and nothing heard but the crack of the rifles and the pop of the bullets in the wheat, or their wall known thud in the ground or the body of a wounded man. I had drawn my right leg up at an angle exposing it somewhat when a ball struck me, passing through between the knee and ankle. I shouted to the Michigan sergeant, "I've got it again through the other leg."

Being much nearer the Confederate line than ours, I could see their movements clearly. Soon after I received my second wound I saw a soldier in front of their lines. I called to him: "I am twice wounded and am dying out here. Won't you bring me a canteen of water?" The Confederate replied: "I can't do it. If I attempt to come out there your sharpshooters will think I am trying to rob you and pick me off." I answered, "Crawl through the tangled wheat, and you will not be seen from our side. At Chambersville I save the lives of many of your men, who would have died from thirst."

Moved by my pleading the Confederate filled his canteen at Plum Run, a small stream that flows through the Valley of Death, near their lines, and cautiously crawled toward me. When he reached me I drank and drank, and thought it was the sweetest water I ever had tasted. He then poured some on my wounds and cut the boots off my legs. After this I began to feel that I had a chance for life, if I could get out of the hot sun and from under the fire then constant over the field. I said:

"This is a pretty hard place for a man to lie, between two fires. Can't you carry me out to where your line is posted in the edge of the woods?" "The way the balls are flying, if I should attempt to lift you up we would both be killed," he replied. "Well, let me get on your back and you crawl off the way you came." He agreed to this and started for their lines, crawling on hands and knees with me on his back. When about half the distance to the woods in which their line was posted, feeling my hold relaxing, I said: "I can't hold on any longer," and from pain and loss of blood fell unconscious from his back.

The Confederate crawled back out of the wheatfield, refilled his canteen at Plum Run and, dashing the water in my face, brought me to life again. Awakening from my swoon, I asked, "Where am I? What is the matter?" He explained, and getting on his back again I held on till we reached the woods. Placing me under a tree on a rubber blanket, he gave me a canteen of water and some Confederate biscuits, and I gave him my watch as a souvenir. I had some money and other valuables, none of which were disturbed. I said: "Please don't take my sword belt, as it is a gift from friends at home," and he replied, "It shall not be taken."

After lying in the shade and drinking copiously from the canteen, I began to feel much relieved and said to one of the officers who had gathered around to see the wounded Yankee, "Won't you have your stretcher bearers carry me to your hospital and let your surgeons look at my legs?" He replied, "Our men are very tired," and, while I was not refused, the answer implied that I was past surgical aid. Not long after this I saw a movement among the Pennsylvania Reserve brigade under Colonel William McCandless on the opposite side of the field.

I saw that they were massing into columns by division for a charge, and said: "You need not trouble carrying me off—our boys are coming." The Reserves poured heavy volleys as they crossed the field, while the Confederates, after returning a few shots, rapidly fell back through the woods. Although the balls rattled among the rocks and trees about me, I enjoyed that charge hugely, for it meant victory. I recall it now as one of the most sublime sights I ever witnessed. One wounded man lying near the edge of the woods was very much afraid of being hit the second time. He shouted to the brigade, at least 500 yards away, "Fire high! Fire high!" Amid all that din of musketry his voice could not reach more than a few yards. The thing was so ludicrous that I, an almost dead man, could not refrain from laughter. The Confederates were now beaten at all points, and this charge across the wheatfield was the last fighting of the Battle of Gettysburg.

It was now nearly sundown, and as the evening shades came on the sounds of battle grew farther and further away as the Confederates were driven beyond Sherry's peach orchard. About 9 o'clock I heard the distant hum of voices and the tramping of feet. It was the detail with torches coming to gather up the wounded. Captain E. M. Robinson, Fifth Maine Infantry, of Phillips, Me., was in charge and personally put me on a stretcher and helped carry me to a barn used as a hospital at the foot of Round Top. Here the next morning I celebrated the Fourth of July by the loss of my leg. Captain Robinson has several years since answered the last roll call. On the morning before the battle I had a presentiment. I was much impressed, and spoke to Sergeant, afterward Captain, John A. Burns of my company about it, making him my executor. He laughed at my forebodings, but did not dispel them. I was wearing a broad-brimmed straw hat, a conspicuous mark, and so before going into the battle exchanged my hat with James A. Woods, the drummer of my company, for his cap. I never met him again until at a reunion at Gettysburg, twenty-six years afterward. His first salutation was: "Lieutenant, where's my cap?"

The unknown comrade I placed between two rocks to shield from the fire of the enemy, and in doing so received the shot which took off my left leg. I have since learned was John Buckley, Company B, 140th Pennsylvania Infantry, from Mercer county, Pennsylvania, who afterward died on the field from his wounds and exposure. For going out of the line of duty to save a comrade's life the Congress granted me a medal of honor, which is inscribed: "For gallantry at the Battle of Gettysburg, July 2, 1863."

When the cruel war was over I thought one day I would find my Confederate friend. I had just two facts to guide me. As the Confederate regiment charged over me I read on their flag, "Twenty-fourth Georgia," and while I was being carried on his back I noticed one bar of lace on his collar. So I was reasonably certain that a lieutenant of the Twenty-fourth Georgia regiment was my savior. Through the kindness of Hon. Garnett McMillan and Hon. Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia, I found the man who did this heroic and self-sacrificing service. He was Thomas P. Oliver, then adjutant of the Twenty-fourth Georgia Infantry, and for many years a resident of Athens, Ga. Many times since the war we exchanged letters, and planned to meet each other and talk over "the times that tried men's souls," but never met until in June, 1907, when he, with a delegation of Georgians, visited the Capital. I then had the pleasure of entertaining him at my house, and presenting him and his friends to President Roosevelt, who greeted us with great warmth of feeling, and with his usual emphasis informed us that he was "delighted" to see us. On December 7, 1908, the Great Reaper claimed this brave and noble man. He had just been elected Alderman of his town, Athens, Ga., and died amid his honors and his friends.

Information of Priceless Value to Every Gettysburg Citizen.

How to act in an emergency is knowledge of inestimable worth and this is particularly true of the diseases and ills of the human body. If you suffer with backache, urinary disorders or any form of kidney trouble, the advice contained in the following statement will add a valuable asset to your store of knowledge. What could be more convincing proof of the efficiency of Doan's Kidney Pills than the statement of Gettysburg citizens who have been permanently cured.

Mrs. Elizabeth Beiler, 1 Steinwehr Ave., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I am just as willing to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills today as I was two years when I publicly told of my experience with them. I was afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble and all my efforts for relief were unavailing. The kidney secretions passed irregularly and caused much distress. Pains often shot across by body and my health was all run down. Hearing so much about Doan's Kidney Pills, I was led to get a box at the People's Drug Store and give them a trial. They cured me and I have since enjoyed good health."

A JOINT RESOLUTION.

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, so as to consolidate the courts of common pleas of Allegheny County.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby, proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section six of article five be amended, by striking out the said section, and inserting in place thereof the following:

Section 6. In the county of Philadelphia all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the district courts and courts of common pleas, subject to such changes as may be made by this Constitution or by law, shall be in Philadelphia vested in five distinct and separate courts of equal and coordinate jurisdiction, composed of three judges each. The said courts in Philadelphia shall be designated respectively as the court of common pleas number one, number two, number three, number four, and number five, but the number of said courts may be by law increased, from time to time, and shall be in like manner designated by successive numbers. The number of judges in any of said courts, or in any county where the establishment of an additional court may be authorized by law, may be increased, from time to time, and whenever such increase shall amount in the whole to three, such three judges shall compose a distinct and separate court as aforesaid, which shall be numbered as aforesaid. In Philadelphia all suits shall be instituted in the said courts of common pleas without designating the number of the said court, and the several courts shall distribute and apportion the business among them in such manner as shall be provided by rules of court, and each court, to which any suit shall be thus assigned, shall have exclusive jurisdiction thereof, subject to change of venue, as shall be provided by law.

In the county of Allegheny all the jurisdiction and powers now vested in the several numbered courts of common pleas shall be vested in one court of common pleas, composed of all the judges in commission in said courts. Such jurisdiction and powers shall extend to all proceedings at law and in equity which shall have been instituted in the several numbered courts, and shall be subject to such changes as may be made by law, and subject to change of venue as provided by law. The president judge of said court shall be selected as provided by law. The number of judges in said court may be by law increased from time to time. This amendment shall take effect on the first day of January succeeding its adoption.

CAPTAIN JAMES T. LONG THE FAMOUS VETERAN BATTLEFIELD GUIDE PASSES AWAY

For Twenty Years He has been the Leading Guide and Interpreter of Gettysburg.

Capt. James T. Long died on Sunday evening about 11.15 after a brief illness aged 66 years, 7 months and 28 days. He had a severe illness several years ago and though he recovered and engaged at his business as battlefield guide he has seemed to many of his friends to lack something of the old time vigor and was weaker to withstand the attack of disease. Complications of Bright's disease is said to have been the cause of his death.

Captain Long was a native of Lancaster County and after the War lived at Chambersburg, Philadelphia and Montgomery, Alabama. He came to Gettysburg to live in 1884 as traveling passenger agent for the Gettysburg and Harrisburg railroad. He had been coming annually to this place with the U. S. A. R. encampments. He made a study of the battle and devoted himself to lecturing on the field and the guide business here and for years was the acknowledged leader in this work. In 1891 he published the first edition of 10,000 copies of "The 16th Decisive Battle of the World—Gettysburg," the Red Book, the popular guide book of the battlefield. Recently a second edition of this book has been issued.

Captain Long had an enviable military record. He enlisted in June, 1861, in Co. B, 99th Pa. Vol. Inf. and was soon made a corporal. In November, 1861, he was injured by falling timber and contracted typhoid fever and was discharged in April, 1862, for physical disability. He next enlisted in Co. G, 21st Pa. Cav., in June, 1862, and won the rank of sergeant major. In Feb., 1864, he enlisted for the third time in Co. G, 21st Pa. Cav., for three years winning a commission as second lieutenant of Co. A, 21st Pa. Cav., and was promoted to first lieutenant and in the last campaign for heroism was breveted captain.

Captain Long married Miss Susan Greenawald of Chambersburg, who died in this place several years ago. He leaves three sons and two daughters, Harry of Harrisburg, William and Robert, Miss Lillie Long, and Mrs. Harry Lackner of this place. He was a member of the Loyal Legion of Honor, Corporal Skelly Post No. 9, G. A. R., Good Samaritan Lodge F. A. M., of this place, Gettysburg Lodge of Elks, and Fame Lodge of Philadelphia of I. O. O. F. and other orders. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment in Evergreen Cemetery.

GEORGE L. COLESTOCK, ex-Sheriff of Adams county, died suddenly at his home in Mt. Pleasant township on Monday morning in his 63rd year. He had been enjoying his usual health and on Monday morning did the work about the barn and came to the house and drew a bucket of water from the well and fell over on the pump bed, dying shortly after. Heart failure was assigned as the cause of his death. Mr. Colestock was well known throughout the county, being a popular auctioneer. He had lived at a number of points in the county, making many friends and this brought about his election as sheriff when nominated by the Republicans for that office in 1906, and while serving efficiently in that office made many more friends. At end of his term he removed to New Oxford and later buying a farm in Mt. Pleasant township removed to it. The funeral will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock with interment at the Pines Church. He leaves a wife, four sons and five daughters, M. G. Colestock of New Oxford, John and Charles Colestock of Gettysburg, Earl Colestock of Hanover, Mrs. J. C. Myers of New Oxford, Mrs. Charles Bennett of York Springs, Mrs. John Shaffer of Mt. Pleasant township, and Anna and Hilda at home. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Keeler of New York.

MARTIN S. WINTROBE was found dead in his bed on Sunday morning at the home of his niece, Mrs. Otis Logan, in Straban township. He had reached the advanced age of 82 years and death was due to apoplexy. He was a native of the county, had been a successful and prosperous farmer enjoying the respect of every one who knew him. He was a veteran of the Civil War, a member of Corporal Skelly Post No. 9, G. A. R., and the Gettysburg Lodge I. O. O. F. He was a staunch Democrat all his life. The funeral was held on Tuesday morning and was attended by a delegation of veterans from the Post of this place, interment being made at Benders' Church. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. John Kline, of Table Rock.

MRS. MARY A. SMITH died in New Oxford on Monday of last week from heart trouble aged 65 years, 11 months and 22 days. She had been subject to attacks at her heart but was not seriously ill and the end came suddenly. The funeral was held last Thursday, Rev. L. Dow Ott conducting the services and interment being made in the New Oxford Cemetery. She leaves two sons, Ross Smith of Santiago, Cal., J. H. Smith of Hanover, and three daughters, Mrs. Barbara E. Trimmer of Carlisle, Mrs. Agnes Bower of York Springs, and Miss Ellen Smith of Hanover. She is survived by two brothers, Noah and Michael Gantz of Hanover Junction; two step-brothers, Wm. K. Allison of York, and John B. Allison of Steelton, and one step-sister, Mrs. Adam Niskey of New Freedom.

FREDERICK SHUTLER died on Saturday, AUG. 14, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harvey Sanders, of Chambersburg, aged 74 years, 5 months and 22 days. He had been a lifelong resident of Adams county until about ten months ago when he went to his daughter. He was an invalid for about three years. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having served in Co. G, 205th Regt. Pa. Vols., and had many friends in Fairfield and throughout the county. The body was taken to Fairfield on Tuesday of last week to the home of W. S. McCrory, undertaker, and the funeral was held the same evening the services being conducted by Rev. W. K. Fleck with interment in Union Cemetery at Fairfield. He leaves a wife who was Miss Lucretia Riley, sister of P. H. Dear Sir: On next Sunday, August 27, there will be given as a supplement with the Philadelphia Sunday North American the regular semi-monthly magazine, containing short stories and serials by noted writers. Ever since the publishers of the North American have been giving this magazine away to its readers, the circulation has been rapidly increasing. This magazine has now become a regular feature on the second and fourth Sunday of each month. Those who are not regular subscribers would do well to place their order in advance with their newsdealer, so as to avoid the disappointment, which usually follows.

Yours very truly,

Acting Circulation Manager.

RUNK & PECKMAN'S REALTY REPORT

When you buy a property through us you get it at actual value. The owners list with us and pay us a reasonable commission for our services in order to make quick sales. You do not have to pay more because it has been placed in our hands for sale. We see that you get a good deed and clear title. This is worth something. You do not want to buy a property and later find unpaid taxes, judgments or other liens against it. We will not try to sell you a property for more than it is worth or one that you do not want. Our business is to show you something that will suit and then get buyer and seller together on price and terms. If we cannot do this you are at liberty to buy elsewhere. That is fair, isn't it. Below we give a few properties that have been listed with us since last week.

80 Acres, 1 mile from Bender's church, new frame house and good barn, running water, $1000 worth of timber on place, a bargain at $2350

Barn and Crops Burned.

The barn on the farm of Mrs. Amos Biddle, about 1-2 miles southwest of Littlestown, was consumed by fire on Tuesday morning of last week. Spontaneous combustion in the hay mow is said to have been the cause of the blaze which spread rapidly to all parts of the barn. Mrs. Biddle's sons, who live with her on the farm, succeeded in saving the stock, but all the grain and a few of the farming implements were burned. The barn was well filled with hay and wheat, while other grain consumed, consisted of 250 bushels of oats and 50 bushels of rye and barley. Mrs. Biddle had $700 insurance on the barn in the Littlestown Mutual Insurance Company, but no insurance on the contents.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING ATTRACTIVE CEMENT SUGGESTIONS

Make a Water Trough that will be water tight, practically indestructible and clean. Build it of concrete made with EDISON PORTLAND CEMENT which is the strongest and most economical cement you can use because it is much finer—100 finer—than any other. The fineness gives greater strength or you can use 1/10 less "Edison" Cement to get the same results as with other brands. Ask for circulars, "How to Mix and Use 'Edison' Cement."

ON SATURDAY, SEPT. 2, 1911, the undersigned will sell at public sale the following valuable farms and properties located near Gettysburg:

No. 1. A farm located at the McKnight Station, adjoining lands of Conrad Walter, Wm. O. Andrew and Tannery lot containing 60 acres more or less 5 acres of timber land, improved with a bank barn, a nine room weatherboarded dwelling house, the Cashew and apple passes through the meadow; good fruit on place. The farm is in the heart of the fruit belt; buildings are in good repair; land is in a high state of cultivation and location could not be better. Several building lots will be cut off the farm at the Station and sold separately from the farm.

No. 2. A truck farm opposite the Western Maryland railroad adjoining lands of Walter Settle, Wm. O. Andrew and the Cashew road, containing four or five acres improved with a weatherboarded dwelling and other buildings. It is a truck farm and handy to markets and is occupied by Mr. Yeager and should be seen now to understand its value for trucking purposes.

The Tannery lots of Victor Dutera will be sold at the same time, being bounded by railroad and public road and including the tannery, the coal bins, the scales, postoffice building occupied by Postmaster Simon P. Stover. The tannery building is 60x40 and three stories high. The machinery in building, personal property and bark are reserved and will not be sold. This place could be most advantageously used as a warehouse for shipping. About sixty car loads of apples were shipped from this point last year. This property has a siding from the railroad and this siding could be made 900 feet long. A fine 25 horse power engine and a 40 horse power boiler will be offered with the property. Terms 1-3 cash and balance at 5 per cent. secured by judgment. Tannery will be offered in two parts.

This piece of land is ideal spot for the construction of a spring lake to supply spring water to Gettysburg by gravity. The lake would be 115 feet above the level of Gettysburg. This acre will be sold with water rights upon condition that lake is constructed at an elevation so as not to include or do any damage to the springs feeding it located on other land of the undersigned. Mr. Stackhouse, chief engineer of Phila. & Reading R. R. is in the fruit belt and located this piece of ground as especially suitable for a spring lake. No. 4 will be sold at the McKnight Station property. Sale to begin at 1 o'clock when terms will be made known by W. S. DUTERA.

Why not Cook with Gas

Don't you know your house would be many degrees cooler if you used a gas stove, and all the home people that much more comfortable.

Gas cooks faster than other fuel, hence less length of heat. A match gives the gas in full force, and cooking done, a turn of the knob removes the heat.

An economical use of gas will result in lower bills than paid for any other fuel and that means the saving of money, heat, fuel carrying and removal of ashes.

MARRIED IN HASTEAnd Glad of It In Leisure

"Get up; John's terribly ill. You must go for a doctor."

I heard the words as spoken from a distance or while in a dream, for I had been working night and day with but a few hours' sleep each night and was exhausted. Then I felt a violent shaking which caused me to open my eyes. After much repetition I was made to understand that I was to go at once for a doctor. I managed to get into my clothes, and, being told that the residence of the physician was 28 Hawthorne street, one of a row of stone front dwellings, I sallied forth. On the way I was obliged to pinch myself to keep sufficiently awake to avoid falling against objects I passed. On reaching the block I found the numbers were all in the vestibules where no light shone upon them. I finally found a number that appeared to be 28, but I could not be sure. I failed to find the doctor's sign, but the darkness of the street would account for that. I rang the bell. A colored girl came to the door. I asked if the doctor was at home. She said he was not; he had gone out to see a person who was at the point of death. I asked when he might be expected home, to which she replied that he might come any minute. I concluded to wait awhile and, going inside, sat down on a sofa in a far corner of the room. There was a light in the hall which was turned low, the only light on the main floor.

In a few minutes I was sound asleep. Again I heard a voice, this time a woman's, trying to awaken me.

"Wake up! We haven't a moment to lose. Father will be here in a few minutes, and it will be too late."

I roused myself and stood up. A soft hand took mine, and, only partly awake, I heard a man's voice mumbling something. There was no light in the hall or in the room I was in, though figures could be discerned from what light came from the street. The mumbling ended with the words "man and wife." Then the soft voice said: "Come quick."

I was led out of the house, the hand still holding mine, and found a carriage waiting at the door. The figure that led me got into it and shut the door.

"Remember," she said, "tomorrow at 4."

By this time I was sufficiently awake to realize that something of considerable importance was at hand. I thrust my hand into my pocket where I carried a box of matches, drew it forth, struck a light and revealed the astonished face of a girl apparently about twenty years of age.

"Oh, heavens!" she exclaimed. A clatter of wheels was heard coming rapidly.

"Drive on."

The coachman whipped up his horses and in another moment my unintentional bride was whirled away.

Her carriage had scarcely turned a corner where its rattle was not so distinctly heard when another came tearing down the street and stopped before the doctor's door. I concluded that, having got another man's sweetheart, I was liable to the wrath her father might be disposed to vent upon him. I moved away a few paces where I would not be seen and awaited further developments. A man jumped out of the carriage, ran up the steps of the doctor's residence and pulled the bell furiously. Some one came to the door, and I heard questions and answers, but not with sufficient distinctness to make out their purport. Then the man ran down the steps, got into the carriage and was driven away.

Notwithstanding the seriousness of the situation, there was something ludicrous about it. While John was suffering for the want of a doctor and might have died for all I knew, instead of getting him one I had got married. Could anything be more ridiculous? The curiosity that had led me to dash a match in my wife's face to see what she was like prompted me to investigate further. As soon as I was sure the last carriage was at a safe distance I mounted the steps of the doctor's house and rang the bell.

A man in clerical dress answered the summons. He seemed very much disturbed and in an irritated voice said: "Well, sir?"

"Does Dr. Brainerd live here?"

"No, sir. Dr. Brainerd lives next door, No. 28. This is 26."

I went home. My mother was the only one in the house still up. She was waiting for me.

"Where have you been all the time?" she asked impatiently.

"Mother, I'm married."

"Married?"

"Yes, married."

"Why, I thought you went for the doctor?"

"So I did."

"And got married instead! Oh, my goodness gracious!"

"I couldn't help it."

"Couldn't help getting married! Have you lost your senses?"

"I went to sleep."

"Oh, my dear boy," anxiously, "what is the matter with you?"

"I got into the house of a dominie by mistake. A runaway couple, chased by the girl's father, came to the house in a hurry, and they were married in the dark."

"What's their marriage got to do with you?"

"Nothing, except they thought I was the groom who, I suppose, was to have met the bride there, and before I got fairly awake they married me."

"Oh, dear, oh, dear! What a terrible thing to happen!"

"If you saw my wife you wouldn't think so."

"I thought you said it was dark and you couldn't see her."

"I struck a match just as she was about to leave me."

"Well, my son, it's nearly day. Go to bed and get what sleep you can before you have to get up again. I'm sorry for the poor girl who made the mistake. I hope she won't have much trouble in getting her marriage with you annulled and being remarried to her rightful lover."

"I do. I hope she'll have a lot of trouble doing it."

"Why?"

"I'm satisfied."

"Oh, go to bed!"

The next day I went to see the clergyman who had married me, and he appointed a meeting between me and my wife to take place in the room where we were married the next day. When we came together I found her very angry.

"This is simply ridiculous," she said. "My dear, I couldn't help it."

"My dear!" she repeated, sniffling the air scornfully.

"What was the matter with—with your other husband?"

"My other husband! Do you take me for a bigamist?"
